SAYS HE IS WILLING TO HANG.

Pugilist Ellinger Held for Tomahawking His Wife.

Hundreds of people were grouped in front o Police Headquarters in Jersey City this morning, watching for the appearance of Edward W. Hollinger, colored, better known as "Big Eddie Ellinger," an erstwhile prize fighter, who was arraigned before Justice Robert Davis, on a charge of murdering his wife, The caricalty to see the prisoner was great, because he is considered the most brutal mur. derer in the bistory of New Jersey. Hollinger came into court in the custody of Policeman Van Der Zee. His big black skull was enwrapped in blood-soaked bandages. Frank P. De Groot against his wife, Lillian De Groot, came to trial in the City Court, The injuries were self-inflicted in an attempt to kill himself after backing his wife to death. He hadn't a word to say, and Judge Davis Brocklyn, this morning. There was no decommitted him for trial and he was taken to fense, Mrs. De Groot has a suit for slander pending the county jail.

It was between 6 and 7 o'clock yesterday morming that the frightful deed was com-mitted. Mrs. Hollinger had been living in a De Groot testified that in January mitted. Mrs. Hollinger had been living in a De Groot testified that in January, 1890, he casement at 317 Third street with Frank Moure learned that his wife was living at 140 High and his wife.

She had separated from Hollinger because of charging his wife with intimacy with Turner, his intograble brutality. He of late has been working as a lather at Hutnerford, N. J., and left that place at 1 o'clock yester lay morning for New York and thence to Jersey City. He came with the cold-blooded determination to kill his wife, and ouring the journey drank | mosing circumstances. snough to make him savage. About 6 o'clock in the morning he knocked at Moore's door and asked to see his wife.

She heard his voice and implored Moore not to let him te, as she felt he would k li her. But Moore, a man of fifty years and not of much courage, grew airmed at the heavy point-ings on his door and opened it. Hot. linger reshed in and went directly to his wife's cents.

'You didn't want to see me, eh?" was his only remark to the tetrified woman.
Then he pulled a lather's natchet from his cicities and, hurling it at her, its samp place such is the poor woman's seed and she sank back on the floor unconscious.

such is the boor woman's head and she sank back on the floor unconscious.

Grased with his murderous determination, Hollinger draw the weapon from the head of his wistim and again and again cruehed the black jato the face of the woman. He munisted her fright.ully.

All the time his two children hay innocently aslees in the bed while the alsugater went on. Battafact that his bloody work was complete, Hollinger turned the wespon on himself and opened a gash in the side of his head. It didn't affect aim much and he grade di a knife from the table and alashed his throat. The edge was duit, however, and he made a ficsh wound sale.

who testides at 882 St. Nicholas avenue, was appointed foreman.

In addressing the jury, Judge Martine said that he had been pleased to learn from the District Attorney that there were no special matters of Importance pressing for attention. There are only seventy-civit prisoners in the Tombe awaiting the consideration of the Grand Jury. Saly.

Ack the picked up his two-year-old child and wrapping a coverier about it, he took the infant lim his arms and waited from the hoe-s.

Followman Van Der Zee met Hollinger on Jersey avenue. He was covered with blood which also saturated the infant's night dress.

The policement took his prisoner to the Second sirest police station, from where he was later removed to Police Headquarters. Hollinger confessed with brayado that he was glad ne killed his wife and ended that if she wasn't dead he would like to go back and finish her. Hollinger used to be a Baptist preacher, but forsook that ceiting to become a Bapter. An 'Eddle Klimper' he annieved some little reputation as a boxer, having once knocked out Bill Godig in Hobeken. March 27, 1894, he meet will Dunn, who biffed him thio a trance in the second round. Then he quit the ring and went to work as a kalsominer sad lather. Hollinger is a Hercules in coops and an evil faced one at that. He stands six feet and is built in proportion. His wife was a massive wom in nearly as tall. See had him arrested in Jersey City a number of times for assaulting her and he was as well known in police courticipes as any of Jersey City's malefactors. Hollinger says he is willing to hang for his crime and his expectations are not likely to be Irustrated. WHERE IS HARRY DONOVAN?
